Summary Report

ADC-2202: Neonatal Resuscitation Program (NRP)

The resuscitation of newborn is a basic lifesaving skill the doctors have to be competent at as a physician of first contact in the community. Also, it is not only babies delivered under special indications who require resuscitation. Even a small proportion of babies with a normal antenatal course can end up requiring resuscitation. Hence, it is paramount that all doctors know the basic resuscitation of newborn. This course was designed with the objective to sensitise and orient the students regarding the Basics of Neonatal resuscitation and NRP Algorithm.

As the subject experts for this course, we had with us Dr. J.V Rao, Professor & HOD, Department of Paediatrics, MRIMS, who being a senior Paediatrician had years of experience and pearls of wisdom to share with the students. He was assisted by Dr. Bhaskar, Consultant Neonatologist, Ankura Hospital and Dr. Narayana, Associate Professor, ESIC Medical College, both young and dynamic personalities with a zeal to teach.

The course was targeted to an audience of 75 participants MBBS Interns, who apart from the theoretical concepts were divided into small groups and given lots of hands-on activities in the Skills Lab using the neonatal manikins, which was received very well by the audience.
