Summary Report

ADC2106: Scientific Paper Writing

Introduction:

Scientific writing is very important for several reasons. Published scientific papers are essential to disseminate research findings and to make information available for others. Scientific papers are for sharing your own original research work with other scientists or for reviewing the research conducted by others. An effective writing will deepen the understanding of the research topic. Among the students it will develop the ability or the skill to effectively get through research findings which is crucial for success in the biological sciences. Students will be able to Learn effectively scientific writing process and stages in publication. They will develop skills to organize and compose a scientific paper using the standardized models of writing and will learn basic concepts of data collection, organization, statistical analysis and use of analytical software

The key resource person was Dr Prashanth kokiwar, Professor & HOD, Department of Community Medicine, MRIMS who has very good knowledge on scientific writing and has published several papers articles and he was supported Dr. Arun Associate professor, Department of Community Medicine, MRIMS and Dr Vaseem, Associate professor, Department of Community Medicine, MRIMS

The program was conducted on 17.1.2022 to 21.1.2022 at Lecture Hall, Ground Floor, Academic Block, MRIMS for 60 students III Year PG (2019 batch) for 30 hours.
