Summary Report

ADC-1804:Immunization in Health Care

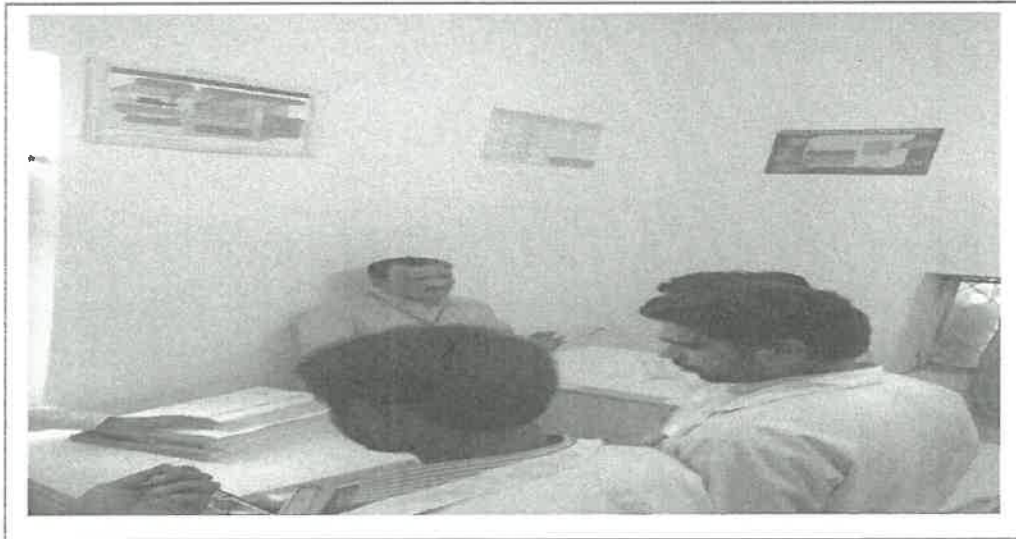

Immunization is the process of giving a vaccine to a person to protect them against disease. Immunity (protection) by immunization is similar to the immunity a person would get from disease, but instead of getting the disease you get a vaccine. Vaccines reduces risks of getting a disease by working with your body's natural defenses to build protection. When you get a vaccine, your immune system responds. Through this course students will learn about National Immunization Schedule, Children and Adult vaccination importance and Surveillance of Vaccine Preventable Diseases. The course will help medical gradates the vaccination schedules and will help them to identify AEFI. The main speaker for this course was Dr Sowmya Varanasi, Assistant Professor, Department of Community Medicine, MRIMS who is having an extensive knowledge on immunization and undergone various training programs on immunization. The course was supported by Dr Riyaz, Assistant Professor, Department of Community Medicine, MRIMS and Dr Vamshi Priya, Associate Professor, Department of Pediatrics, MRIMS who works in the immunization cell and have worked in managing AEFI as well.

The program was conducted on 22.4.19 to 26.4.19 at Lecture Hall, Ground Floor, Academic Block, MRIMS for 110 students of IV MBBS(2014 batch) for 30 hours.
