Summary Report

VM22: E-Learning

learning plays a crucial role in advancing medical education, improving patient care, and driving innovation in the medical profession. It offers opportunities for continuous learning, collaboration, and professional development, ultimately contributing to better healthcare outcomes for patients worldwide. In remote or underserved areas, e-learning can serve as a vital tool for delivering medical education and training. Additionally, e-learning complements telemedicine initiatives by providing training on remote healthcare delivery and telehealth technologies. Through this course student will learn various aspects of e-learning in education, from pedagogical principles to technological considerations, and from instructional design to future trends.

The program was taken by Dr Varun Gaiki, Professor, Department of Community Medicine, MRIMS along with other MEU members. He has worked on E-learning modules and has been a resource person in several E-Learning workshop and he was supported by other MEU members

The program was conducted from 25.11.21 to 27.11.21 at Lecture Hall, Ground floor, Academic Block, MRIMS for III MBBS(2019 Batch) and Interns for 16 hours
