Interpersonal Communication (VM13)

Summary Report

Interpersonal communication is the process of exchanging information, feelings, and meaning through verbal and non-verbal channels between two or more people. It's the foundation of human interaction, allowing individuals to connect, build relationships, and navigate social situations. Effective interpersonal communication involves not only transmitting messages clearly but also listening actively, understanding others' perspectives, and responding appropriately. Mastering interpersonal communication skills can greatly enhance personal and professional relationships, leading to better understanding, cooperation, and mutual respect. The course will help them to learn on interpersonal relationships. The session was taken up by Dr Himabindu, Professor, Department of Microbiology, MRIMS who has extensive knowledge in the topic and had conducted several workshops and she was supported by other MEU faculty.

The program was conducted 29.7.20 to 31.7.20 in online mode for 150 II year MBBS for 16 hours
