Summary Report

Career Aspects (VM-31)

The Career Aspects in Medicine course, conducted for medical students at MRIMS, was a resounding success, featuring Dr. Sunanda, Professor and HOD, as the main resource faculty, and Dr. Vidya, Professor of Pediatrics, as the supporting faculty. Over three days, students were immersed in an intensive program designed to illuminate the myriad career pathways within the medical field. Dr. Sunanda's expertise and comprehensive sessions on clinical and non-clinical career options provided students with a broad perspective on potential futures in medicine. Dr. Vidya's contributions, particularly her insights into pediatric career trajectories and her engaging workshops on skill development, were highly appreciated by the attendees. The course effectively combined lectures, panel discussions, and interactive workshops, fostering a dynamic and supportive learning environment. Participants left with a clearer understanding of their career goals, enhanced professional skills, and valuable connections within the medical community. The feedback from students was overwhelmingly positive, highlighting the course's impact on their career planning and development.

The program was conducted from 18th April to 20th April 2023 to a total of 130 medical students who were enrolled into the course.
